About this guide

This guide, created in partnership with PACE Coalition and supported by a grant from the Community Foundation of Elko County, highlights a selection of medical, behavioral/mental health, and social service providers in and around the Elko, NV area.

About Nevada Health Centers

Nevada Health Centers is our state's largest community health center program, offering primary care, behavioral/mental health, dentistry, and pharmacy services at various locations in Nevada's urban and rural communities.

We operate 18 community health centers, three mobile health programs, and seven Women, Infants, and Children offices in southern Nevada. Our Elko Family Medical and Dental Center, located at 762 14th Street, provides primary care, behavioral/mental health, dentistry, and pharmacy services to anyone in need, regardless of ability to pay.

We accept most insurance plans, including Medicaid and Medicare, and offer a sliding fee scale for those without insurance.

If you or a loved one needs behavioral/mental health services or support, please call us at 775.738.5850.

About PACE Coalition

PACE Coalition is a nonprofit coalition of parents, educators, business leaders, law enforcement, and people from many community sectors who work to strengthen families in Elko, Eureka, and White Pine counties and to keep youth substance free.

Our motto, "Healthy Communities ... Whatever It Takes," captures the essence of our coalition's mission, which we fulfill by funding substance use prevention programs, providing special training, and offering educational opportunities about harmful substances, health and wellness, parenting, nutrition, and more.

PACE is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation funded primarily by state and federal grants.

For more information, please contact us at 775.777.3451 or info@pacecoalition.org.

What is integrated behavioral health?

Integrated behavioral health, or IBH, means that we treat symptoms of the body and mind in order to get you on the road to better health. Under this model, we evaluate the following as we determine the best treatment plan for you:

- Are you up to date on your medical exams and screenings?
- What prescriptions are you taking, and are you getting proper nutrition?

- Are you receiving regular dental care?
- What mental or behavioral symptoms are you experiencing, and how might they be related to your physical health?

By taking this whole-person approach, we are better able to understand the root causes of mental and behavioral health issues, and can develop a treatment plan or guidance that leads to more effective outcomes.

Who provides mental and behavioral healthcare?

Primary Care Providers are licensed medical professionals (typically a doctor, physician assistant, or advanced practice registered nurse) who take care of patients' general medical needs and coordinate care with specialty providers when needed. Primary care providers are often the first point of contact for those with mental or behavioral health issues.

Psychiatrists are medical doctors who specialize in mental health, including substance use disorders. Psychiatry is the branch of medicine focused on the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of mental, emotional, and behavioral disorders. Psychiatrists are qualified to assess both the mental and physical aspects of psychological problems.

Psychologists are mental health professionals who use psychological evaluations and talk therapy to help people learn to better cope with life and relationship issues and mental health conditions.

Licensed Clinical Social Workers (LCSW) hold a master's degree in social work and are licensed to provide diagnoses and counseling services to individuals living with mental, behavioral, and other emotional issues.

Licensed Social Workers (LSW) are specially trained social workers who have met requirements for licensure in order to help clients with mental health issues.

Marriage and Family Therapists (MFT) are mental health professionals trained in psychotherapy and family systems, and licensed to diagnose and treat mental and emotional disorders within the context of marriage, couples, and family systems.

Licensed Drug and Alcohol Counselors (LDAC) are trained professionals who work with clients to help them better understand and overcome their addictions.
